

Helicopter activity near Mt. Hefty rescheduled

Updated Oct. 19—The Border Patrol had planned to install a new repeater site on Mt. Hefty in the first weeks of October. Due to unfavorable weather conditions, however, the installation has been delayed. According to Jimmy DeHerrera, District Ranger for the Hungry Horse - Glacier View Ranger Districts, the new date for this operation is Oct. 22, weather permitting.

During the installation, border patrol personnel will be using a National Guard helicopter to complete the task in two trips.

Mr. DeHerrera is working hard to get the news of this helicopter activity out to the community, so please let your neighbors know about the change in plans.
